The builders' page appearing in The Glendale Evening News each Saturday, it is believed, has a tendency to create a desire among people here to "own a home of your own."

Mrs. Margaret H. Smith Remembers War Vets

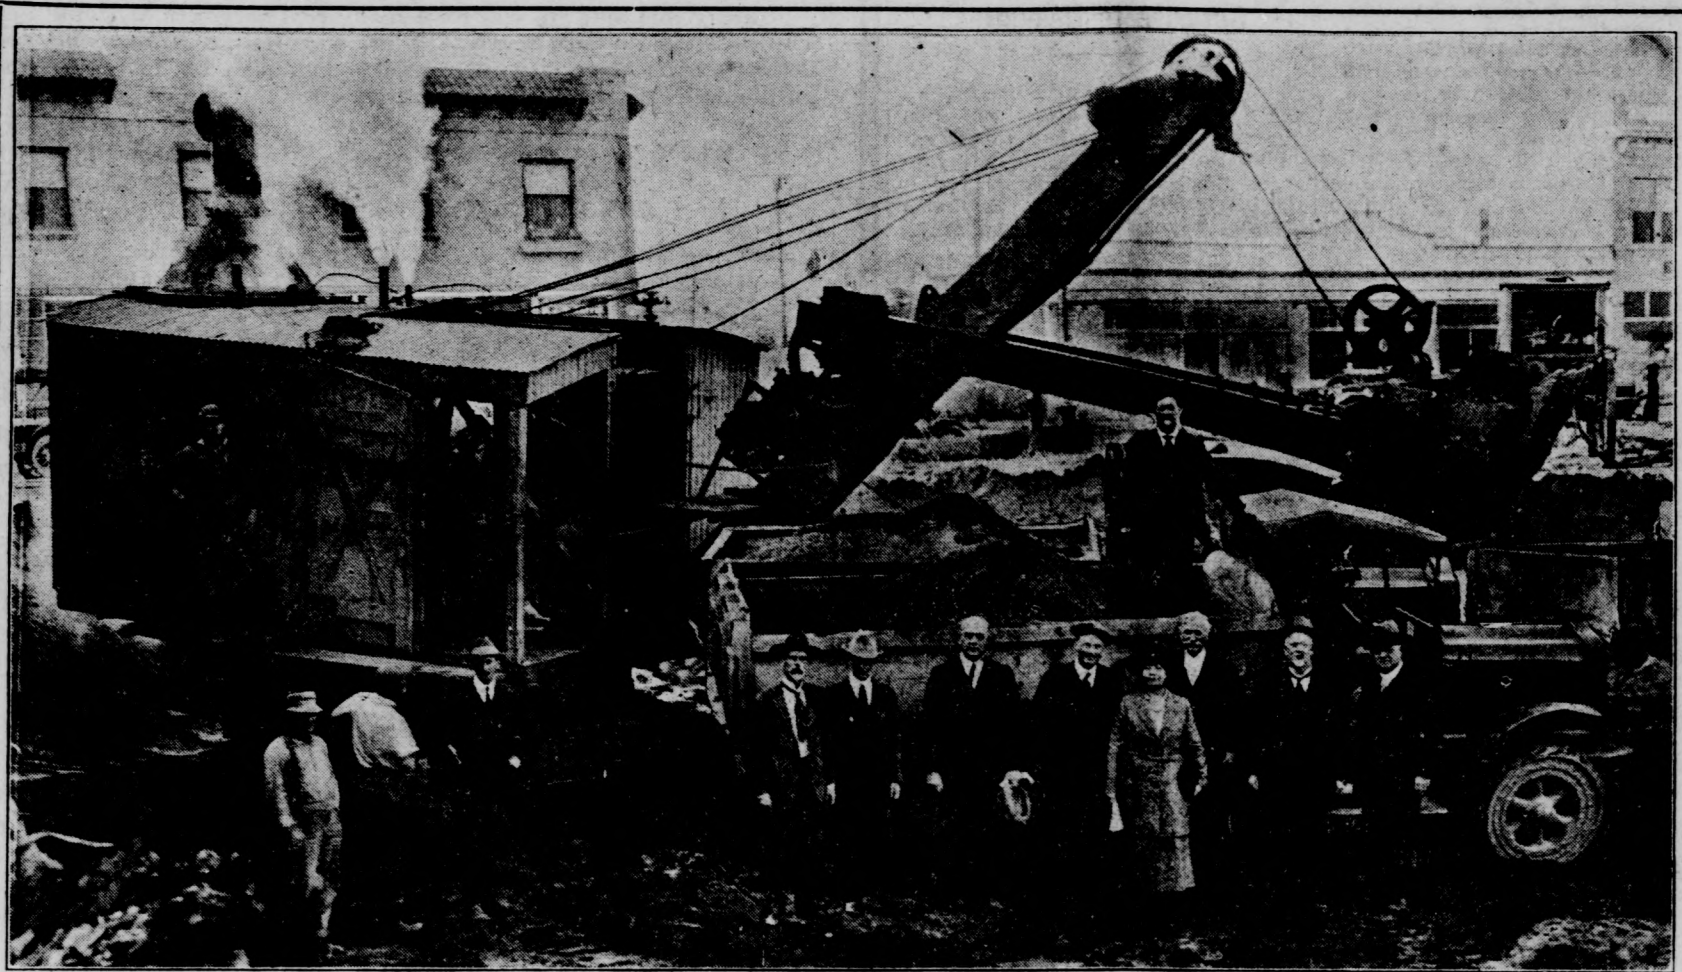

Mrs. Margaret Horrell Smith, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dick of 309 North Louise street, was responsible for an unusual treat which was given the boys at Thornycroft on Armistice day. Mrs. Smith is principal of the school at Sixty-first and Figueroa streets, Los Angeles. She had given talks to the children of the sixth, seventh and eighth grade of that school about the ex-soldiers and Armistice day, telling them that if they wished to donate fruit, jellies and flowers that she would see to it that they reached them.

Congregationalists Receive 100 Members

One hundred members of the Congregational church gathered Friday night at the church at a reception for new members and the congratulatory pastor on his first year's successful service here. The affair was planned by the department of social service, Mrs. P. V. Potter, chairman, and the music program was under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker.

At the close of the program Mrs. Hartley Shaw, in behalf of the members of the church, thanked Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Calderwood for their splendid work in the parish and spoke also of their appreciation of Mrs. Calderwood's mother, Mrs. Hanscomb. Mrs. Shaw presented them with a beautiful electric percolator. Dr. and Mrs. Calderwood both responded with words of sincere gratitude.

Excavation For Ambrosini Hotel At East Broadway and Glendale Avenue Nears Completion; Work on Six Story Structure Starts Immediately

Standing atop truck load of dirt: Anthony Ambrosini, capitalist and builder of contemplated six-story hotel at Glendale avenue and Broadway. Left to right: E. Schelling, excavating contractor; G. B. Woodbury, Glendale pioneer resident; T. W. Watson, former city manager, now with Roy L. Kent Company, architectural engineers; Mayor Spencer Robinson; Harry G. MacBain, president of Shaver's Grocery, Inc.; Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, prominent realtor of eastern Glendale; City Treasurer J. C. Sherer, bank cashier and editor here in the early days; Elder J. O. Corliss, prominent resident of eastern Glendale; F. H. Vesper, former president of the Bank of Glendale, which is now a part of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank group.

The big steam shovel of E. Schelling, which has been at work in excavating for the Ambrosini hotel at the northeast corner of East Broadway and Glendale avenue will complete its work next Thursday, says Mr. Schelling, after which construction will start on the six-story building, according to an announcement of Anthony Ambrosini.

The work of the steam shovel has attracted much interest and the progress has been noted with enthusiasm by those who believe in the future of Glendale. Mayor Spencer Robinson, who has been watching the work with much satisfaction, expresses himself as follows:

"I have always had faith in Glendale and in Glendale avenue, and the erection of this modern six-story hotel will bring many hundreds of tourists here every winter to enjoy the advantages we have to offer."

A portion of the basement plans have been completed by the Roy L. Kent Construction company, 130 South Brand boulevard, and the office is now working on the rest of the plans. The plans will provide for seventeen store rooms on the first floor with an island store on the corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, and 345 rooms on the five upper floors.

NEW OFFICERS FOR O. E. S.

At the regular meeting of Glen Eyrie Chapter, O. E. S., which was held last night at Masonic Temple, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Harry L. Redd, worthy patron; Mrs. Fannie Parke, worthy matron; Miss Mildred Lyon, associate matron; Mrs. Jennie Phillips, conductress; Mrs. Mae Warwick, associate conductress; Mrs. Annetta Booth, secretary; Mrs. Alice M. Carvel, treasurer.

MOTHERS GIVE THANKS

The reason why the National War Mothers were not placed with the patriotic organizations in the parade was because they were newly organized and did not decide to participate until after the line-up had been published, according to Mrs. J. B. Sherwood, 357 West Broadway. The committee from the local chapter is anxious to thank the Glendale Hudson Motor Car company for furnishing a car and the Glendale Floral Shop for the decorations. Other members of the committee were Mrs. James Webb, 127 West Chestnut street and Mrs. Henry L. Hock of 612 East Orange Grove avenue.

Mr. Ambrosini is busy today arranging for the contract for a retaining wall which will permit construction work to begin with little delay. He said: "We are pushing the work just as fast as we can. The contract for a retaining wall is the next thing and we want the work done by a local contractor just as soon as possible."

DR. T. C. YOUNG RETURNS

Dr. T. C. Young of 400 North Kenwood street has returned from a two weeks' visit with his parents at Winterset, Iowa. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Young's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Baird, who will remain here for the winter.

"As to when the entire hotel will be finished I cannot say definitely, but I believe there is six months' work ahead of us, that is, for the whole six stories. We are going to build it story by story so that as soon as the second floor is finished we shall be able to accommodate tourists."

"The city of Glendale has long needed a hotel of this kind and we intend giving the people the best in the way of modern six-story building that it is possible to have."

E. Schelling is losing no time with the steam shovel and while pushing work this forenoon on a grade for the heavy trucks, found time to give assurance that the work would be completed within the next few days. "We are trying to have all the excavating done by next Thursday," he said, "and I believe we shall make it alright. The work has been progressing very well and I don't think the removal of the remainder of the 11,000 cubic yards of earth will take us very long."

"Just where we shall go from here I do not know as yet as there are several excavation contracts pending in Glendale and with the building activity of the city I may be here for some time. I hope so, at least, as I like Glendale, and while my stay here has not been a vacation by any means, yet I have enjoyed it thoroughly."

"This is the second excavating job we have done here, the first being that for the new Christian church building. With the other new church buildings being contemplated our excavation work may keep us in Glendale for some time."

Mrs. T. L. Brown Is Hostess to Members of Sisterhood Class

The members of the Sisterhood Class of the First Methodist church were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. L. Brown, 213 North Louise street, with forty-nine present. The meeting was opened with special devotional exercises, on account of the nearness of Armistice day. This was followed by a short business meeting. The new members of the class were then received and formally introduced to the other members.

One of the things which provided a great deal of amusement during the afternoon was a "get-acquainted" game, which resulted in everyone helping out in the entertainment. The members were grouped according to their birthday months. Each group was requested to furnish something in the way of entertainment and responded heartily. Some unusual talent was in this way displayed. There were recitations, group singing and even magic stunts. Later in the afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. T. L. Brown, who was assisted by Mrs. D. D. Haines and Mrs. Stella Holt. Bouquets of flowers and glasses of jelly were sent out to the members of the class who were ill and unable to be present.

Delightful Dinner for Knights Templar Folk

On Thursday night Sir Knight and Lady F. J. W. Henry of 224 Arden avenue entertained the men of Glendale Commandery No. 53 who initiated Mr. Henry as Knight Templar. A delightful four-course dinner was served. The dining table was centered with a bowl of carnations. Place cards were 1922 calendars, with little figures of the people of different nations. Mrs. Sallie Braden, who is the widow of a Knight Templar, and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, wife of the eminent commander of Glendale commandery, assisted the hostess in serving. After dinner a social hour was enjoyed, during which Mr. Henry sang several selections.

The guests included Daniel Campbell, C. C. Rittenhouse, Charles Ravenscroft, Riley Lyons, J. I. Wernette, W. W. Worley, Dr. R. V. Hogue, William Reynolds, Ben Hagen, Past Commanders Clem Moore, David Crofton and Percy Prialux, Burt Richardson and the host, F. J. W. Henry. Messrs Greer and Grumbly had been invited but were unable to be present.

COMPLETE ABANDONMENT OF ALL CAPITAL SHIPBUILDING PROGRAMS PROPOSED BY U. S. AT ARMS PARLEY

Definite, Concrete and Drastic Plan is Submitted by America at Opening of Conference and Proves Great Surprise to Delegations

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Complete abandonment of all capital shipbuilding programs, either actual or projected, was proposed to the armament conference today by Secretary of State Hughes as the first step in the world-wide plan to limit the navies of the powers.

Secretary Hughes spoke in his official capacity as chairman of the American delegation and submitted a complete plan for the limitation of naval armament in his opening address. The plan had previously been worked out by American naval advisers.

Just before he made his history-making proposals, Secretary Hughes was elected general chairman of the conference, so that he spoke in a dual capacity—as official head of the American delegation and also of the conference.

The proposal came as a bombshell to all except the inner circles of the American government. It had not been expected that the Americans would take the lead with such a definite, concrete and drastic proposal until the conference had gotten under way.

If the terms of the Hughes proposal are applied to the United States navy, our future strength at sea will be limited to eighteen capital ships with a tonnage of 500,650; Great Britain twenty-two ships, tonnage 604,450, and Japan's navy will be ten capital ships, tonnage 299,700.

Secretary Hughes proposed that if acceptable to the other powers, the agreement proposed by America, last for ten years.

Secretary Hughes' proposal applied only to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, the agreement stating that owing to the peculiar position of France and Italy due to the World War, those nations would be considered at the conference at a later date.

What America Proposed

First—Complete abandonment of all capital ships now building or contemplated.

Second—This would mean scrapping of America's 1916 program, which is not yet completed; Japan's famous eight and eight program, and Great Britain's program of four new super-Hoods.

Third—This program would cost the United States about $330,000,000.

Fourth—Scrap all older vessels beyond certain classes.

Fifth—Great Britain, Japan and the United States agree not to replace any of the ships they keep within ten years—in effect, a ten year naval holiday.

Sixth—That when replacements are made at the end of ten years no ship be built over 35,000 tons.

Seventh—That subject to the ten-year limitation, ships left should be considered fit for replacement at the end of twenty years.

Eighth—The powers are to inform each other upon the completion of the "scrapping" and also as to replacements.

Ninth—Secretary Hughes made no specific recommendations concerning merchant marine, but said that this subject also had to be considered.

Big Powers Are Silent

When Hughes concluded, cries of "Bravo! Bravo!" from the galleries halted a suggestion by Hughes for an adjournment.

"France is ready to say—down with arms," dramatically exclaimed the French premier.

France, however, was not included in the program proposed by Hughes and thus could look with undisguised pleasure on any measures that would decrease other navies and bring them down to a plane somewhat nearer the French.

Cries of "Japan! Japan!" then sounded from the galleries.

The Japanese whispered together and Prince Tokugawa arose, removed his spectacles and with an expressionless face, read a short statement. He made no reference to the startling proposals suggested by Secretary Hughes. He contented himself merely with expressing Japan's pleasure at attending the conference and her willingness to co-operate with other nations to attain the aims of the conference.

The conference adjourned at 12:22 without having made any response to the American proposals.

Thus the conference adjourned without either Great Britain or Japan, the only two powers affected by the proposals, making known their attitude on them.

Outlines America's Position

In a terse businesslike speech, stripped of all diplomatic verbiage and niceties of international expressions, President Harding officially opened the momentous armament conference here this morning with a brief outline of America's position—clean hands, honest intentions and high hopes.

"Gentlemen of the conference," said the president, "the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we have no enemies; we contemplate no conquest. Content with what we have, we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone."

The president spoke from the head of the great U-shaped table, around which sat in rapid attention.

LESS OF ARMAMENT, NONE OF WAR, IS HARDING'S PLEA

President Welcomes Delegates to "Arms Parley; Tells of United States' Desires

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—President Harding delivered the following address at the opening of the armament conference here today:

"Mr. Secretary and Members of the Conference, Ladies and Gentlemen. It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capital of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which shared sacrifices and sorrows, and triumphs brought our nations more closely together, but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind. It is not possible to over-appraise the importance of such a conference. It is no unseemly boast, no disparagement of other nations which, though not represented, are held in highest respect, to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world."

"Here is a meeting, I can well believe, which is an earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention of remorse, nor a session of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to define terms of settlement. Nor is it a council of nations seeking to re-make humankind. It is rather a coming together, from all parts of the earth, to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults in our international relationships."

"Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone, it is rather the spoken word of a war-weary world, struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship; of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace."

"It is not alone that the world can—"

Mrs. C. L. Peckham Hostess to Tuesday Club Music Section

The regular meeting of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. L. Peckham, 615 North Central avenue. She was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Paul Hoffman. Decorations of chrysanthemums and tuberoses were used.

After a short business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. C. L. Marlene, curator, a most interesting and enjoyable program was given. The main theme of which was "Opera, Classic and Modern." A very instructive and thorough talk was given by Mrs. Paul Hoffman on the history and early development of opera. This was followed by a piano solo, "The Swan Song," from Lohengrin, very ably rendered by Mrs. Nathan Rigdon. Mrs. Alexander Mitchell read a very interesting paper on the history of "Thais," after which a splendid record of the "Meditation from Thais" was played on the phonograph. Another piano number which was very much enjoyed was the "Sextette from Lucia," played by Miss Gertrude Champlain. This was followed by the story from the opera of "Faust" by Mrs. C. L. Peckham, who also played the overture from "Faust" at the piano.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and was very much enjoyed by those present. The program was followed by a social hour, during which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

LESS OF ARMAMENT, NONE OF WAR, IS HARDING'S PLEA

President Welcomes Delegates to Arms Parley; Tells of United States' Desires

not readjust itself and cast aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first recorded conflict to this pregnant day and the reverse order would more become our boasted civilization.

"Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we contemplate or apprehend no conquest. Content with what we have we seek nothing which is another's. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

Without Heeding Call
"It is not to be challenged that government fails when the excess of its cost robs the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not urging, the cold, hard facts of excessive costs and the eloquence of economies would urge us to reduce our armaments. If the concept of a better order does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and the blight of continued competition.

"It is not to be denied that the world has swung along throughout the ages without heeding this call from the kinder hearts of men. But the same world never before was so tragically brought to realization of the utter futility of passion's sway when reason and conscience and fellowship point a nobler way.

"I can speak officially only for the United States. One hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our own minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accord the world with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not alone in good will and high purpose, but with high faith.

"We are met for a service to mankind. In all simplicity, in all honesty and all honor, there may be written here the avowals of a world conscience refined by the consuming fires of war, and made more sensitive by the anxious aftermath. I hope for that understanding which will emphasize the guarantees of peace and for commitments to less burdens and a better order which will tranquillize the world. In such an accomplishment there will be added glory to your flags and ours, and the rejoicing of mankind will make the transcending music of all succeeding time."

United States Takes Lead in Campaign to Reduce War Machinery

By FRANK CHARLTON
Written for International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—America took active leadership today in the first world movement in history for the elimination of international menaces that threaten civilization with future war.

Reduced to simple terms the United States seeks:
First—To prevent competition among the great powers in the construction of war machinery—naval, land and air.

Second—To remove source of international friction in the Pacific ocean zone that may lead to future conflict.
Recognizing the general belief that the far east is the new danger spot, America has sought the cooperation of eight other powers with vital interests in the Orient to allay the danger of a "next world war."

This is generally regarded as the greatest humanitarian crusade in the history of mankind. But it is also a practical scheme for material relief from the overwhelming burden of taxation and debt.

In no sense is the conference a peace parley as the world has known peace parleys in the past. There is no enemy to be punished; no new frontier alignment to be worked out; no spoils of war to be parcelled and no new alliances to be contracted with a view to future military co-operation. It was called primarily to lighten the burdens of a war-weary world and to prevent such burden from being imposed in the future. Diplomatic procedure will be followed, however.

The committee will meet behind closed doors, but the American government is determined that no secret diplomatic agreements shall creep in. The final decisions finally will be made known to the whole world. English will be the official language.

The agenda, or official program of matters to be considered, covers a tremendous range of territory, especially insofar as it relates to the Orient.

HARMONY FEATURES VAUDEVILLE BILL GLENDALE TODAY

Southern Comedy Trio Gives Program of Merit; First Recital for Sunday

Harmony features the vaudeville program playing at the Glendale Theatre today. The Southern Comedy trio is the featured number sent here by the Bert Levey coast-to-coast service and equally as good are the "Two Jacks," who sing and talk their way through 15 minutes of merriment.

For diversionist Signor Samuels, foot juggler extraordinary, who hails from the music halls of Europe, comes as a real novelty. McCann and LaTour will sing and dance while the Alexander Brothers offer "A Study of Hawaii." The latter act savors of something funny.

Gladys Walton, the darling Universal satellite, will be seen in the happy-go-lucky film feature entitled "The Rowdy." The name of the star and picture should be sufficient alone to attract record crowds here while the vaudeville acts are in standard.

First Sunday Recital

Tomorrow marks the first of the season's Sunday evening recitals to be given at the beautiful Glendale Theatre by William A. Howe, lessee and manager. Paul Carson at the great Estey console will play a number of selections while Harry Stanton, dramatic tenor, and Miss Maud Norman Kelly, contralto, will be presented in solo and duet numbers under the direction of L. E. Belymer, widely known Los Angeles impresario.

Lon Chaney in the "Ace of Hearts" will be the film attraction for the first of the week, while Harry Sweet will provide the comedy in "High Life."

Special attention is called to the fact that there is no raise in prices for these added attractions.

GRAPES BRING $150 A TON

PENN. YAN, N. Y.—The Lake Keuka grape crop was several weeks earlier than usual this year. Favorable grape weather made this possible. The farmers are happy. They have contracted their grape crop this year at $150 per ton. This is the best price ever received. A few years ago these same farmers were "doin' well" when the crop was marketed at $20 to $30 a ton.

DISARMAMENT PLAN IS OUTLINED BY UNITED STATES

Complete Program Is Given at Opening Sessions; Proves Surprise to Delegates

the statesmen of Europe and Asia. To the right of him sat France and Japan; to the left, Great Britain and Italy, and down at the far end of the horseshoe were the representatives of China, Belgium and Portugal.

On either side of him at the head of the table were America's delegates. The galleries above were crowded with the entire membership of house and senate, members of the cabinet, justices of the supreme court and diplomats.

"I can speak officially only for the United States," continued the president. "Our hundred millions frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we accord the world with the same good intent."

It was a small and exclusive audience. Admission was only by card, and there were few of them. While the session was described as "public" there were few of the "public" within the sacred portals when the session got under way.

The Japanese and Chinese contingents were first to appear and there were many of them. Major General Tanaka, the Japanese military adviser with his aide, were followed shortly by a handful of British.

Two boxes immediately above the table at which the delegates sat were occupied by Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Hughes, with parties of friends. The first delegate to appear was V. S. Sastri, representing India. He was a picturesque figure in his black frock coat and white turban.

Secretaries and small fry, frock-coated, bespattered and monocled, filled the enclosure as the time approached for opening the momentous session.

At 10:20 the tall form of A. J. Balfour was to be seen making his way with difficulty through the big throng of American applauders.

At 10:23 the room broke into applause at the entrance of the American delegation—Secretary Hughes, Elihu Root and Senators Lodge and Underwood. They took four seats at the right of the bottom on the U. S. On the left side of the U. S. sat Balfour, Lee and Geddes of the British delegation.

The audience stood and applauded as the Americans came in.

Next came the French, headed by Briand, and the Japanese, led by the round figure of Prince Tokugawa.

At 10:27 all the delegates were in their seats, awaiting only the arrival of the president.

At 10:31 President Harding came in. The audience stood and applauded.

The president entered through a south portal, shook hands with Secretary Hughes and Mr. Balfour and then took his seat between them.

No time was lost. Secretary Hughes rose and said: "We will have a prayer by the Rev. Abernethy."

Applause again was general when he appealed for the outlawry of war. It came particularly from the galleries. The delegates themselves followed the text of the president's speech or looked on intently, and gave no indication of their sentiment.

CALIFORNIA'S GOLD MINE MANAGER DIES IN OHIO

Hired by State Years Ago to Develop Alaskan Property;
Passes Away Poor

Special to The Glendale Evening News.
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12.—Blind, and as bereft of money as of sight, John Brooks, mining engineer, whose science and skill helped to develop Ohio's great coal industry, today trudged out of the capital seeking the fireside of a friend of the earlier and better days.

Picking his way with a staff, he had journeyed over the roads from Philadelphia to be in Ohio when death, no longer unwelcome, came.

Told by representatives of public charity that he must go to the poorhouse, the old man, whose years are 78, bristled and asked to be directed to Circleville, recalling that he had an old friend living on the pike. The kindly policeman took him in a motor car far down the road and then set his feet toward the goal.

The wanderer was born in Zanesville in 1843, and in young manhood engaged in the newly founded mining business, becoming an expert engineer, whose services were in strong demand at high charges for consultation. His fame in his profession spread abroad.

The state of California, seeking a new source of revenue for state funds, obtained the services of Brooks as their representative in the Alaskan gold rush of the early 90's. He purchased a mine and developed it until it became one of the best paying properties in the Klondike. Next he was employed by private mining interests to tour the coal fields of Europe and investigate possibilities of exploitation in Asia.

Having done his work, he returned to the United States with $10,000 in his pockets. It was while on a trip across the country from New York to California that he caught cold in his eyes. Infection set in and he lost his sight. After that he went about the country, living on his savings. But the money soon was gone, and since that time he has been traveling from city to city, sleeping almost anywhere, accepting the hospitality of any kind mortal's table.

As he entered upon his weary walk to Circleville he told the police, if he was not taken in at his destination:

"I'll just walk, on and on, until I reach home."

This Woman Starts on Great Adventure; Journeys Into Tibet

By RAY HUMPHREYS
Special to The Glendale Evening News.

DENVER, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Eulalia Leprieo Campbell, Denver woman, has started for Los Angeles in her handsome roadster.

At first glance that might be taken for a misplaced social item, but it is more—it is the announcement of what is to be Mrs. Campbell's great adventure—her trip to Tibet.

In Los Angeles Mrs. Campbell, who has been the proprietor of a lace store at 1648 Tremont street, Denver, will store the roadster, and going up the coast a bit will take a steamer.

Mrs. Campbell is a cosmopolite in every sense of the word. She has had more hair-elevating adventures than any Denver woman and she is off now on the first leg of a new journey that will take her from California to China and then to Tibet, and into regions where no white women have ever penetrated before.

"Afraid?" she laughed, as she started Californiaward, "not me; ever since the days of Marco Polo Tibet has been in part a great mystery—and I love mysteries—afraid—ah, not me!"

Attired in spiffy knickers, a sweater, and a swagger hat, Mrs. Campbell is a picture. She is a comely woman, with a smile that wins, for in her veins is the blood of French nobility as well as Spanish Bourbon. Her husband, Lieutenant Colonel F. E. Campbell, an English officer, was killed in the war.

"There is no reason that I know of," said Mrs. Campbell, before starting on her long trek overland to California, "why women cannot be great explorers; I've roamed through France and India and I call both places my home; in exploring I am quite willing to pioneer. The greater part of Tibet is unknown; I expect to sail from California to Shanghai and from there my expedition will proceed up the Yang-tse-kiang river to Batang on the China-Tibet border. There, I expect, will begin the most arduous part of the journey—the dark Di Chu river, which leads into very dangerous territory. But I am not afraid. I am going where no other white woman has gone and I expect to get a whole bucketful of thrills—and so I'll be happy."

Mrs. Campbell has lived in Denver a year. Before coming here she lived in Colorado Springs. She came to America just after the war and after she had received word of her husband's death at the front. She is very prominent in Denver society.

Great Britain receives $43,740,000 annually in motor vehicle taxes.

Did This Ever Get Your Goat? Perhaps You Wondered Why

Editor The Glendale Evening News:—In a recent issue of your newsy paper, I read the account of the entertainment program of the San Gabriel Valley Automobile Trade association, and I was particularly attracted to the statement and inquiry made by Charles H. Kelly, chief of police of Pasadena, in which he is reported to have said: "There is one section of the state traffic law which I never could understand. Why does the law require a motorist to signal when making a right hand turn, when the law says he cannot pass another car to the right?"

It affords me pleasure to call to the chief's attention a motorist's viewpoint of this particular law. For example: A driver going, say south, and approaches an intersecting street on which there are motorists going east. There is no traffic officer, and the south going driver gives no signal, and it is presumed by the motorist going east that the south bound driver is going to continue in that direction, so the east bound driver, not being a mind reader, must give a stop signal, throw out his clutch and bring his machine to a standstill; later he sees the south bound driver, selfishly and disdainfully, without sign or signal, turn to the right (west). Then it is that the east going driver may proceed, he re-engages his clutch, runs his gears and goes on his (happy?) way, wondering, Why is it, if the laws are so crazy, that there are more people going to San Quentin than there are to Patton.

Uncle Remus Coming to Glendale; Adeline Simmons Brings Him

Uncle Remus stowed a big lunch of corn-pone and fried chicken into his 1888 model haversack a day or two ago and boarded the Central of Georgia for Glendale.

There was a rabbit foot in his pocket—the rabbit was attached.

This means that Uncle Remus and Br' Rabbit, right out of a story book, will be present next Tuesday night at the First Methodist church.

Miss Adeline Simmons—Miss Adeline Simmons of Georgia—will create them for her audience. A special protégée of Joel Chandler Harris, Miss Simmons has a letter from his widow complimenting her upon her excellent interpretation of negro dialect and southern plantation life. It is reported that she causes tears and laughter to chase each other.

Mrs. Evelyn M. S. Labadie of the Dramatic Arts studio, 101 North Cedar street, says, "Miss Simmons is not just a reader. She takes her audience right along with her and peoples the platform with characters. She had to send direct to Georgia for her costume. Although she has studied a great deal, she says that she picked the pickaninny stories right out of her own yard, and that her 'mammy stories' are pictures of her own mammy."

Miss Simmons has appeared before the Press Club of Chicago, the South Shore Country Club of Chicago and many other prominent organizations. She comes to Glendale Tuesday night with other artists as part of the church's program to furnish entertainment of the very highest class at cost to the appreciative residents of Glendale.

THINK IT OVER and Be Honest With Yourself

Plan Nos. 1500 - 1505

A home that you would be proud to own, its graceful lines convey an impression of individuality and pretentiousness not usually found in a home so small.

The alternate floor plans show a variety of arrangement that should make it easy for you to choose one that would meet your needs.

The exterior is painted white, trimmings are in light orange and roof is stained colonial green. Never before have home builders given such careful consideration in choosing plans as now.

Wouldn't You Be Happier and Better Satisfied If You and Your Loved Ones Were Acquiring a Home That You Could Some Day Claim As Your Own?

Materially, from the monetary standpoint, building and owning a home surrenders to no opposing argument. Its benefits, to the man who finds the community in which he lives and works and rears his family congenial to all, are of such diversity and value as to make rent paying a compromise with bad judgment. The responsibilities of home building and owning identify a man as an important unit in the civic life of his community. Building and owning homes on the part of those who logically can and should, is as important as intelligent voting.

Observation shows that the beginning of the successful careers of many young business men has been the acquirement of title deed to a home. Credit is based on character and resources. A home is a character maker, and at the same time is the greatest and most elemental resource of all.

The man of family who fails to appreciate the true significance of home owning to himself and family has not reached full stature. If his ambition points that way he has made the start; but ambition unbacked by decision is of little avail.

The basic need of all men and women is a home and the sense of shelter and security which goes with ownership. If there were no other arguments worth while men would be more than justified in building and owning their own homes for the children's sake.

Like father, like son. The next generation will not be a home-owning one if the present generation doesn't show the benefits of home owning and inoculate the home-owning ambition.

Give your children a fair show to make good on your ambitions for them; get them tucked away in a good home—a home that is all yours and theirs. It will become to them the very hub of the universe, a very sacred spring of inspiration and a very tangible example of the prudence of thrift. If you would do your part toward making your children's future secure in a nation of home owners—BUILD NOW.

Another thought is the sense of independence that home ownership brings. Somewhere in the heart of every man is the desire to be freed from the reach of want and care. Independence makes for better workmen, better fathers, better men.

The following organizations, public-spirited firms and individuals are interested in helping to make Glendale a city of more beautiful homes and to assist in every possible way in creating homes for those who are desirous of making our city their future home, and it is their recommendation that all who can possibly do so build homes or convert their surplus money in home building channels.

MORE MOTOR SALES 'LADIES MUST LIVE' NOW, INDUSTRY RECOVERING WILL BE SEEN AT T. D. & L.

Secretary Robert W. Martland of Auto Trades Reports on State Conditions

"More sales are being made in California than during the later months of 1920, and most of the men in the automotive industry are well on their way to recovery."

This is the statement of Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the California Automobile Trade association, who has just completed a month's trip through the state. Martland, in his travels has interviewed hundreds of well known business men in all lines, and without exception they are optimistic and look for better conditions in all business. Martland addressed gatherings of automobile men, bankers and retail merchants, and farmers up and down the state, and all agree that there is a decided trend upward in all business.

Profits Have Been Cut

"While many of the automobile men are doing more volume of business this year than last their profits have been cut to a minimum, by increasing sales and service costs, and lower prices on their products," says Martland.

"It takes real hard work to sell automotive merchandise these days and so sales costs rise necessarily. Last year, when there was a decided shortage of all kinds of motor cars, the sales costs were low because everyone who wanted an automobile or anything else, came in paid a deposit and waited for deliveries. Now with cars easy to get and keener competition than ever, it takes real salesmanship to sell automotive products and it costs the employer more to handle his sales."

Shop Costs Reduced

"Shop costs have been reduced to the consumer but mechanics' wages have not gone down to any great extent. Thus the repair men are working on a smaller margin of profit."

"We have heard much about profiteering in the automobile business, but the books of every concern in the automobile business in California show that they are operating on a smaller margin of profit than ever before in the history of the business."

"Business is coming back and will be good, but there will be none of that feverish stuff that resulted in depression. It will be slow, steady growth on a solid foundation."

Safety Slogan With Plenty of Jazz Is Sought; Any Ideas?

Jazz safety slogans to be scattered broadcast through the country wherever automobiles are owned and operated have just been drawn up by the recently established safety bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Suggestions for new slogans, with more "home brew kick" in them than the following, are asked for by the auto club officials, so every motorist who has any ideas on the subject are asked to send them to the club at once.

What do you suggest as the best slogan for a safety campaign in Southern California? Think it over. Mr. Autoist, and then mail in your suggestions.

Here are some which have been submitted and which are being considered as the king-pin ideas for the big campaign shortly to be launched by the club throughout the west:

First—The modern A B C is "Always Be Careful."

Second—The chance taker is the accident maker.

Third—A careful habit is the best bodyguard.

Fourth—Don't kid about safety—you may be the goat!

Fifth—The wife of a careless man is almost a widow.

Sixth—Never put off till tomorrow what you can safely do today.

Seventh—When hurry interferes with safety, cut out the hurry.

Eighth—It is better to be careful a thousand times than to be injured once.

Ninth—A heavy foot on the accelerator means a heavy foot on the brake.

Tenth—Carelessness is at the bottom of more avoidable accidents than any other known cause.

'Moonlight and Honeysuckle'
With Vaudeville Last
Times This Evening

Declared to be a screen masterpiece equal if not superior to his enormously successful production of "The Miracle Man," George Loane Tucker's last picture production, "Ladies Must Live," will be the feature at the T. D. & L. theatre Sunday and Monday. Betty Compson, who made a great hit in "The Miracle Man" in which she played opposite Thomas Meighan, is the featured player in "Ladies Must Live."

Although succumbing gradually to fatal illness just as the final scenes of the picture were taken, Mr. Tucker, lying on a stretcher, supervised the cutting of the 14,000 feet of film that had been taken. Experts assert that the picture, from every standpoint, was the best production Mr. Tucker ever made.

The story deals with the troubles of certain women who, since ladies must live, plan to make that living as easily as possible. In the development of this theme, the genius of Mr. Tucker found its finest expression, the result being a picture of supreme interest and appeal to every film fan. The story is based on a novel by Alice Duer Miller.

Mary Miles Minter's comedy supreme "Moonlight and Honeysuckle" appears for the last time today with an excellent vaudeville bill.

Flintridge Gardens to Be Picnic Scene for Public Sunday

No event of the year in real estate circles of Los Angeles has created more comment than the announcement by Michael Hallward, one of the members of the William Wilson company, 429 Pacific Mutual building, that Flintridge Gardens is to be opened Sunday, with one of the most elaborate free picnics and excursions ever arranged for a similar event in the southland.

Flintridge Gardens lie at Flintridge, the de luxe suburb of Los Angeles and Glendale, and those who have already inspected this stretch of parkland that rolls and sweeps its way straight to where the towering peaks of the majestic Sierras rise, declare that it is one of the greatest beauty spots anywhere around Los Angeles.

Flintridge Gardens consist of big roomy building sites ranging from a quarter acre in size up, and William Wilson company have priced this property in a way that is expected to make it unusually attractive to people of moderate means. Quarter acres may be had for only $500 and half-acre tracts in choicer locations of Flintridge Gardens will sell for $1250.

"We don't want anybody to come on a business trip; we are just giving a party to which everyone in Glendale is invited to Flintridge Gardens," declared Mr. Hallward.

"We have provided auto transportation for everyone who will ride with us, and our schedule will be as follows: Leaving Los Angeles from the William Wilson offices at 429 Pacific Mutual building on Sixth street, the autos will go out promptly at 11 a. m.

"From Pasadena, our autos will meet the cars on Raymond avenue south of Colorado street at 11:45. For Glendale people motoring there via Montrose it is stated that the tract lies this side of the Devil's Gate dam in Flintridge vicinity. Representatives of the William Wilson company will be on hand to see that everybody has a good time and gets filled up on the sumptuous picnic luncheon."

Closed Cars Proving Preferable Here Says Studebaker Dealer

There is no accounting for what the motoring public will choose in the way of motor car body design, according to S. C. Packer of the Packer Auto company, distributor of Studebakers for San Fernando valley.

They once had a buying splurge on chunky roadsters of clover leaf design and now such cars go begging on the second hand market. They were a short lived fad. There have been fine closed car bodies offered the public for many seasons yet with all of the added comfort they give in all kinds of weather they have been adopted very slowly until the last two years.

This year the closed car sales have gone up with enormous strides. Coupes and sedans are almost as popular as roadster and touring cars. If they did not cost a little bit more on account of the coach work it is likely that every one would choose the closed models in preference to the open types.

No executive asks a salesman to have his brain examined any more when said salesman asks for a closed car to get about the territory while selling goods. Many a family has a touring car and a coupe in the same garage.

The reason why the Studebaker line of closed cars enjoys exceptional popularity is ascribed by Mr. Packer to the rare combination of fine coach work and a smooth running, quiet motor. This rare combination was impossible to find except in very high priced cars a few seasons ago, now the buyer with limited means can satisfy his desires for an enclosed motor carriage of fine appearance and comfort.

Motorists Who Fail to Stop After Crash Subject of Campaign

War to the bitter end will be declared by county authorities throughout southern California on the motorist who smashed into a fellow driver and then runs away.

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California have risen up in arms against the criminal type of auto driver who is becoming too numerous on highways in this section. And the club has instigated action against him wherever possible.

Now the time has come, points out the motoring organization, when drastic action must be taken in order to curb the further exploits of the man who runs down an innocent pedestrian or smashes into another car then "beats it away" from the scene of the accident as fast as gasoline will take him.

A case in point is cited where a motorist having the right of way at a street intersection was run into by another autoist. In the car which was run down were three women, one of them holding a baby in her arms. The motorist who ran into this car was able to get away for a block, but the other car containing the women and baby was not so badly damaged but what the driver could start in pursuit.

He succeeded in catching the culprit, and now the case is to be prosecuted in Los Angeles to the fullest extent of the law.

Section 21 of the state motor vehicle act makes it a felony for failure to stop after an accident and give an accounting. The punishment for running away is imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period not to exceed five years, or one year in the county jail or by a fine not to exceed $5000—or both.

The same penalty is provided for failure on the part of the offending motorist to give his correct name and address.

J. J. Schulte Opens Drug Store at Brand and California Ave.

J. J. Schulte is the latest neighborhood druggist to open a store in Glendale, having the corner location at California avenue and Brand boulevard in the Kalibra block. He will make a specialty of prescription work and carry the usual line of sundries. A soda fountain and cigar stand have been installed for the convenience of residents of the North Brand section of the city. Free deliveries will be made, Mr. Schulte states.

Acreage About Glendale Is Greatly in Demand

That the rapid growth of Glendale is not to be confined to the present business and residential sections, is expressed by P. C. Brown of the Glendale Realty company, 133 South Brand boulevard.

"A survey of the acreages in and around Glendale shows that every one is thinking about the time when the land will be subdivided and placed on the market as home sites," he said. "This is but a natural result of Glendale being the outlet for Los Angeles and right now that city is beginning to receive tourists who come here for the winter and are won over to this climate. Glendale's present growth is not a boom, it is just a natural growth as a result of the demand for homes in a city of many advantages and excellent climate."

Along Auto Row

It Does the Work

"You can pay as high as $25 for stop signals but our little 'I Go' flashers will do the work just as well," remarked G. E. Gane of Rich's Auto Supply store, Colorado street and Brand boulevard, this morning. "It is the best that is on the market. It is a big seller in the east and is out-selling the higher priced contrivances ten to one. It seems to be coming into great prominence here."

Drop in Tire Prices

"There has been a drop in tire prices of about 20 per cent in the last few days," remarked E. D. Halliwell of the Automobile Tire company, 211 South Brand boulevard, this morning. "As we have always been 15 or 20 per cent below the regular market, this means that we are offering better buys than ever. Canton cord tires for Dodge cars, for instance, sold for $31 in October; now the price is $22.75."

Seventy Miles Per Hour?

Can a Ford go seventy miles an hour?

Jack St. Clair of Jack's Service Station, 233 South Brand boulevard, says he knows of one that can—maybe. It is a new speedster he is constructing. It has a Ford radiator, but that is about all there is to remind him of Highland Park, Mich. He has overlaid the regular Ford motor with a sixteen valve-in-head racing motor. The body will be of light olive green and reinforced with oversize tires.

The car is being made by Mr. St. Clair during his spare time.

More Fords Are Ordered

A second helping of Fords was ordered this week by the Southern California Edison Company from the local agency. This makes fourteen cars purchased by this one company from Glendale in the past two weeks. Nine runabouts have been delivered already and the others will be turned over to them as soon as possible. Three carloads of autos were received from the factory this week. Today the mechanics at the agency are busy finishing the assembly work before they are delivered to their new owners.

Enameling Oven Is Now Being Installed by Local Motorists

The only enameling oven this side of Los Angeles is being completed today by R. W. Hirzel and A. W. Gregg, adjoining the rear of the Glendale Auto Body and Fender shop, 137 1/2 South Brand boulevard, and will be put into operation next week. It has cost in the neighborhood of $1800 already.

The interior of the oven itself is 6x10x7 1/2 feet. The floor is of brick and the walls and ceiling of sheet metal covered upon the outside with asbestos cement. Along either side at the floor are large pipes which enclose the gas burners. These burners are 5 feet long and there are two of them, end to end, in each pipe so that two of them are lighted from each end of the oven. There is no opportunity for the gas fumes to get into the oven because they are ventilated up the middle of side walls to the roof.

The special spraying room also has been constructed. This is enclosed in plaster board and will be absolutely dustproof. It will contain racks and stands upon which articles can be placed to be sprayed by a new one-half horse-power compressed air sprayer.

A dipping tank will be built next week. This will be sunk in the ground in the open air at one side of the new oven in order that its acids may be heated by the nearby gas.

A large stock of fenders, radiators, hoods, side aprons and other automobile parts are in the shop already waiting to be enameled. A job can be completed in about three days. If one oven is not enough to handle the volume of business, others will be installed later.

Build Batteries Like Big Bridges, Proposed

"The motorist who is looking for a battery that will stand the strain of starts and bumps and steady operation will do well to take a lesson from every steel bridge he crosses," said Herman Psenner of Psenner-Doll, auto electricians, 610 East Broadway. "Trained engineers have discovered that diamond grid construction is the most satisfactory in building derricks, fighting masts, trestles and every sort of structure where strength is essential."

"Following this scientific principle, the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company uses this type of construction in its famous Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery, with the result that buckled plates and short circuits are now eliminated."

"No other battery has this exclusive, patented feature. The Philco Slotted Retainer is another reason why Philadelphia Diamond Grid Batteries last twenty-five to fifty per cent longer than others, while a Quarter Sawed Hard Wood Separator gives perfect uniformity of porosity and insulation. This battery is made in three special types for Ford, Buick and Dodge cars and is adaptable to ninety per cent of all automobiles."

"Yet, despite their added service and economy of operation, Philadelphia Diamond Grid Batteries are being sold at prices lower than in 1914." Mr. Psenner states that his experience has demonstrated that the two-year guarantee given with each Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery is a conservative pledge of the battery's performance.

Why

Studebaker

Enclosed Cars are so Popular

The Studebaker line of cars is complete. The six models range from the Light-Six Coupe-Roadster to the roomy, luxurious, seven-passenger sedan.

Each of the six models has incorporated in its coach work seventy years of Studebaker experience in fine carriage building. Each one covers a particular field of passenger transportation in a complete and satisfying manner.

The completeness of the Studebaker line of enclosed cars, however, does not fully explain their great popularity.

The real reason is that Studebaker enclosed cars offer that rare combination of fine coach work and a chassis free from noise and vibration. They are equipped with the famous Studebaker "L" head motor.

And this rare combination is offered at moderate prices.

Royal Neighbors Give Pleasing Social Affair

The first social affair to be given by the Royal Neighbors of America, of which Mrs. Laura Jones is oracle, since its organization was the benefit ball given last night in Odd Fellows Hall, East Broadway. There were about forty couples present who enjoyed this jolly occasion, and the social committee, which includes Mrs. Ed Coker, chairman, Mrs. E. H. Botsford and Mrs. Richard Freeman, made everyone feel at home and saw to it that there were few seats occupied while the music was in progress. A five-piece orchestra provided rhythm for the syncopators. Punch was served throughout the evening. Later in the evening several live turkeys were disposed of, adding considerably to the amount of money cleared during the evening, which was about $50.

When Is a Battery Old?

Some men are young at seventy—others are old at forty. It's about the same way with batteries.

Their usefulness depends on the care they have had, the amount of work they have had to do, how they have been used, and most important of all—ON THE ORIGINAL QUALITY OF THE BATTERY.

THERE ARE A GOOD MANY REASONS WHY THE EXIDE IS THE LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF BATTERIES IN THE WORLD.

A Friendly Warning---

Just a minute of your valuable time to read the accounts of accidental deaths and injuries in the news items below. Who knows but what you or some member of your family may be the next victim of an automobile accident. Prepare for such an emergency by taking out one of our full coverage policies for the motorist—don't wait till it's too late.

One man was killed and two men were severely injured early last night in a grade crossing accident at Brand boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks.

Wesley Reeves of Glendale is dead in Los Angeles; Samuel T. Bronnenberg, 214 West Harvard street, and M. L. Ogden, 501 West Colorado street are in the Glendale Sanitarium.

Frank McGillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McGillis, 1003 East Lomita avenue, is at his home here recuperating from severe injuries suffered when the machine which he was driving collided head-on with another car at the foot of the grapevine grade, thirty-one miles south of Bakersfield, on the Ridge route, last Thursday night.

Walter Smith of Los Angeles, while racing his automobile this morning, smashed into a city of Glendale truck, which was parked along the curb on South Brand boulevard and received minor injuries about the face and also had one tooth knocked out. According to C. D. Ingram of 1221 South Brand boulevard, who witnessed the accident, the boy was driving with head down and evidently did not see the truck.

Lee Wise, former local resident mona Armistice day and visited friends. They enjoyed a picnic

"Our only worry right now," says
Harold D. Charlton, architect, 113 East Broadway, "is that we can't find time to do all our work, so great has been the number of plans submitted to us lately. Plans of every description are being asked for, from garages and dwellings to business buildings." At present Mr. Charlton is working on an elaborate set of plans for business buildings on North Brand boulevard.

the section are very busy, especially as the Christmas season is drawing near, and are making the most of the advantages offered in instructions for making many clever gift novelties.

Mrs. Mary E. Lindsay and son, left Glendale Thursday night for San the southern part of the state, where they will spend the next few days visiting with friends and relatives.

They expect to return to this city

noon will be given by the music sec-

On account of conflicting dates the dance and entertainment of the first arranged for Thanksgiving night, and later changed to Decem-

there will be no conflicting dates, announces Rex Randall, and the coming all arrangements.

According to A. H. Nichols of the Glendale Bicycle Works, 120 North Brand boulevard, the loss of bicycles in Glendale should not be attributed locally, as he states it is his opinion the wheels are taken by motorists from other cities. "I think a gang could motor out here from some other city during the evening," he said, "and ride the bicycles back and then pawn them. The large number of bicycles that have been taken of late seems to indicate there is an organized gang working."

"I find myself a little unpopular with my class in callisthenics," said Rex Randall, president of the Glendale Athletic club. "You see the class we had in the high school gymnasium Wednesday night was the first 'sitting up' exercise some of the fellows had done since their army days, and we went through the paces rather strenuously. However, everyone is coming back next Wednesday night and many new ones have signed up for the work."

John Elder and Louis Kiesling, both of Los Angeles, were visitors Thursday of Frank McGillis at his home at 1003 East Lomita avenue.
Both of the young men were in the automobile accident near Bakers-field last week in which McGillis received a number of severe head and body lacerations. Warren King, who was the most seriously injured of the five victims, is still in a precarious condition in a Bakersfield hospital. He received several fractures of the skull in addition to many body abrasions.

ARE YOU AFRAID TO THINK?

Some people dismiss the subject of their passing as if it made them afraid even to think of it!
Yet it is bound to occur, and at a day and hour that we know not.

You are now trying to build for the future of your family and yourself but if you are wise, while you build you will protect.
Twenty, thirty, forty years from now you will be either an old man or a dead man. If you will let us protect you and your dependents against either hazard you will receive more comfort than you will from anything else because you will know that full provision is made whether you live or die. You may leave other property, also, but 20 per cent of the total that men leave at death is Life Insurance.

Glendale Music Club Thanks All Who Gave Aid on Fine Float

The members of the executive board of the Glendale Music club wish to thank the persons who assisted in making the float entered in the Armistice day parade by that organization a success, and who gave of their services so generously, which includes the following: S. C.
Packer of the Studebaker agency,
who furnished the truck, and Dudley Pigg, who drove same; R. C. Lowe and E. G. Meadows, for constructing the framework of the float; Downing and Cox, for potted plants; J. T.
Allen, florist, for making the letters;
public service department for electric light for working on float at night; Wesley Pomeroy, Edmund Packer, James Smith of the junior auxiliary, Mrs. Grace Jackson, Mrs.
Meadows and Mrs. G. W. Smith and Miss Jeanne Robinson for working on the float; the young ladies who rode on the float and furnished their costumes, including Marjorie Bailey,
the Goddess of Music, Clara Bowling, Julia Robinson, Georgia Thompson and Genevieve Mulligan; the Hudson Motor company, who furnished a beautifully decorated touring car for the officers of the club; the Glendale creamery, for truck used by the juvenile auxiliary members.

The float entered by the Music club was one of the most beautiful in the parade and caused much favorable comment along the line of march. The idea carried out in the construction and decoration of the float was an original one suggested by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club.

New Nash Car Is Displayed Here at E. B. Sutton's Rooms

Model Six-ninety-one Nash is announced to the motoring public today by E. B. Sutton of the Glendale Nash Sales at 207 North Brand boulevard as the latest refinement of motordom. A model of the new car is on display and one can readily see that appearance alone has been greatly improved over old models.
It is the same Nash blue in finish,
but the new straight-line body design, roomier front seat and a lower top.

The Delco ignition system is now found in the Nash and the bullet side lights are added to the hood.
The same perfected Nash valve-in-head engine is to be found in the car with slight change, while the front springs now boast of fifteen leaves instead of nine, which makes riding as smooth as possible without added equipment.

An improved emergency brake and a visible gas gauge are among the other features of this beautiful new car which you will want to see.

Disabled Veterans and G. A. R. Guests at Sheesley Shows

Disabled veterans of the World war and members of the G. A. R. posts were guests of the afternoon at the Sheesley Shows which is providing the entertainment for the American legion carnival. They were especially pleased with the amusements and took great interest in MacGregor & Aseltine's exhibit of world wide relief. The general attention of the principal feature being a free Ford for someone. It is expected a record attendance will be there for this event.

MONROVIA FOOTBALL SQUAD BEATS BY 13 TO 0 SCORE

Local Lads Put Up Hard Fight and Game Proves Thriller From Start to Finish

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News
Glendale high school's pigskin championship aspirations were badly rent and torn asunder yesterday afternoon when the Monrovia eleven trounced the Red and Black warriors, 13 to 0, in their annual game on the local field. The defeat was far from being an inglorious one, however, as Coach Hayhurst's lads forced the league leaders to play their hardest game of the year, the winning punches coming in the last part of the contest.

The game was a thriller from start to finish, with most of the record Armistice Day crowd of 4000 tan-bark followers held in a state of frenzy during every minute of play.
Now the ball would be on Glendale's five-yard line, then under the shadows of the Monrovia goal posts, changing its position on the field as often as a woman changes her mind at a department store bargain counter.

Shaw Boys Are Stars

The two outstanding stars of the fracas were easily the Shaw brothers.
Monrovia's gold dust twins, their individual work throughout the game being largely responsible for the final result. This sterling pair of dusky backs form one of the smoothest running ball carrying combinations to be seen in southern California prep circles, and they will probably be heard from in championship playoffs, which Monrovia is sure to enter.

Both of yesterday's touchdowns were made by them. T. Shaw catching a pass and running twenty-five yards across the line in the third quarter and "Big Ed" Shaw bucking over for the final score in the last few minutes of play.

Forced Out of Game

Glendale paid dearly for its spurt in the first quarter, the team's offensive strength being greatly dimished by the loss of Fred Stofft, who was forced out of the game with a badly dislocated shoulder. "Ronnie" West, who has proved himself the real "find" of the season, played a whale of a game throughout the remainder of the afternoon, although it can hardly be stated that he is in the same class as a backfield star with Stofft.

Although no alibis are offered by the coach or his players the result
"might" have been altered if Stofft had remained in the fray.

The second quarter, although devoid of scoring, was the most exciting and best played period of the entire contest. It was in the middle of this period when Ed Shaw got away from Glendale's defense on an end run for a gain of about forty yards. Like a streak of greased lightning he managed to squirm through the arms of five tacklers only to be stopped on the opposite side of the field by Elifler, who made a flying leap toward his man in the prettiest tackle of the day. In fact, Shaw was hit so hard that he was taken from the line-up until the beginning of the second half. His place was taken by "Flash" Tauffer.

Score Is Quickly Made

The Monrovia battlers came on the field with a vengeance after the ten-minute intermission and, before Coach Hayhurst's athletes could catch their breaths, Quarterback Coffin had tossed a short pass to T.
Shaw, who scampered through the Glendale team for the initial touchdown. Goal was not converted.

Glendale then received the kickoff and advanced the ball eighty yards down the field on a series of line plunges and skin tackle plays.
McCourt and West doing most of the advancing. But the parade halted when the ball reached the one-yard line. Monrovia suddenly stiffening her defense and holding the onrush-ing backs in their tracks. They immediately kicked out of danger and proceeded to assume the offense during the rest of the game.

The sudden holding literally crushed the Glendale team and they were not dangerous as a scoring possibility at any following stage of the contest.

The final touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Ed Shaw bucked through center for six yards to another score. The ball had been placed at this point of vantage largely through the efforts of "Bo" Bronson, who received a forward pass on the fifty-yard line and zigzagged his way through the field for a forty-yard sprint.

How They Went In

During the final moments of play

Elaborate Marriage Ceremony Held at Springville in Home of Bride's Parents

Miss Tillie Elizabeth Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Neal of Springville, California, and Kingsley Dutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dutton of 110 West Los Feliz Road, were married Wednesday night, November 9, 1921, at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations of large mountain ferns and white chrysanthemums were used.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The Episcopal ring service was read by Rev. L. A. Wood, rector of St. John's church of Porterville. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine and she wore a long bridal veil. Her bouquet was of white American Beauty roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Mildred Shore of Porterville was the bridesmaid. She was dressed in Nile green silk and carried a bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses and fern. Jean Taylor, dressed in pink organdie, was the flower girl and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride. Baby Neal Taylor was the ring bearer, the ring was carried on a pink satin cushion. Lawrence Dutton, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Gwendolyn Neal, sister of the bride.

Serve Wedding Supper

Following the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dutton received the best wishes of their friends, after which a wedding supper was served next door, at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor. Decorations of white chrysanthemums and ferns were also used here. After the supper the bride and bridegroom departed for parts unknown, amid a shower of rice and good wishes.

Mrs. Kingsley Dutton, who is a beautiful and accomplished young woman, is a graduate of the Friends Select School for Girls in Philadelphia. Since coming to Springville she has been very popular in Red Cross, musical and social affairs of that city and Porterville.

Kingsley Dutton has many friends in Glendale, having resided here since a small boy. For the past five years he has been connected with the Southern California Edison company and is now superintendent of the Tule river hydro-electric plant, where the young couple will make their home.

LOCAL LADS TAKE EVERY EVENT IN RING CARNIVAL

Regular Home Town Affair so Far as High Honors Are Concerned Last Night

The American Legion's exhibition wrestling and boxing show, which was staged last night in the big animal tent at the circus on Harvard street as the climax to the Armistice day celebrations, turned out to be strictly a home-town affair, with local artists winning in every event on the card.

About 600 fans gathered around the temporarily arranged squared circle to witness the bouts, which constituted the best and most sportsmanlike program of its kind that has ever been exhibited in this city.

John Hackensmidt, the local middleweight grappler, conquered "Big Abe" Metzetti of Hollywood in two straight falls in the main event of the evening, the first coming after ten minutes of wrestling and the last in eight minutes.

The former fall was brought about by a terrific body scissors hold, in which Hackensmidt gradually forced his larger and somewhat "flabby" opponent to a helpless position on his back. Hackensmidt was easily the better of the two men, he appearing to possess twenty-five per cent more strength than Metzetti.

Legion Queen Expresses Her Thanks to Public

"Elected Queen of the American legion carnival for Armistice day, I wish to extend thanks to the members of the legion and my numerous friends in Glendale and vicinity for their aid in the recent queen contest. Such loyalty and kindness is a source of great happiness and they shall rest assured the queen shall never forget."
—(Signed) Queen Viola Yorba.

The contest was refereed by "Apollo" Romanoff, former Pacific coast champion, who issued a challenge to the winner before the bout started. Apparently Hackensmidt will have his hands full during the next few weeks, as he was also challenged to a finish match by Jack Perry of Pittsburgh, who witnessed last night's affair.

The curtain raiser was a four-round preliminary, with Kid Essex of Glendale and Battling King of Los Angeles as the principals. Essex, who was appearing in his second public fight, showed that he has the "makins" of an A1 performer when he came back in the last two rounds, evening up the opening stanzas and tearing through his good-natured opponent for the decision.

Now It's Even Up
Ralph Myers, another local fist-cut fighter who has only been in a few fights, helped to establish a career for himself when he wore out Howard Kendig of Burbank for a decisive win. Young Myers had formerly lost a decision to Kendig, last night's performance evening up their score. A "rubber" will probably be arranged between these two battlers in the near future and if last night's performance is a criterion of their work with the gloves this next fight gives promise of being "some" affair.

Ralph Myers' big brother, Johnny, kept the family name on top when he whipped Jack Moore of Los Angeles in the semi-windup. The encounter was a battle from the word "go," both men leading out throughout the four rounds. Moore was apparently dazed in the last round when he suddenly lost his familiar smile after the local boxers had landed a series of fast body blows and "in fighting."

Tom Mix in Action
Besides witnessing the wrestling and boxing matches the fans were treated to the rare privilege of seeing a modern movie hero in "real" action. The actor mentioned was none other than Tom Mix, famous cinema star and well known sport enthusiast, who acted as referee for the boxing bouts. Mr. Mix made a favorable showing, all of his decisions meeting with the approval of the assembled fans.

The local American legion band entertained the audience between bouts with a number of "jazz" and "circus day" selections.

Attack on Russellism to Be Given Answer by Ernest D. Sexton

Ernest D. Sexton speaks in the L. O. O. F. hall Saturday night at 7:45 o'clock on "The Menace of Russellism," which is declared to be in the nature of a reply to the attack on "Russellism" by the Rev. Ernest E. Ford in his address Sunday at the Baptist church.

According to press reports, Rev. Ford interpreted "Russellism" as offering a second chance before annihilation. He also declared "Pastor Russell claims that he received a special revelation from God telling him all about the future."

Mr. Sexton will answer these charges made by Rev. Ford and also the charge that the teachings of Pastor Russell would lead one to "Do as you have a mind, it will come out all right. There is no hell; no sin; and if you do die a miserable profigate, God will give you another chance after death and eventually you will land in heaven."

The local members of the International Bible Students' association, of which the late Pastor Russell was president, feel that Mr. Sexton is well qualified to represent them in answering the attack against the doctrines which they hold in difference with other religious bodies.

Mr. Sexton was for over twenty years associate lecturer with the late Pastor Russell and lectured extensively throughout this country, and Canada, and the British Isles.

It will be remembered that it was a Glendale pastor, Rev. Troy, backed by fifty pastors of the Baptist denomination, that debated with Judge Rutherford, now president of the I. B. S. A., several years ago in Los Angeles, which drew large crowds and the verbatim report published in a Los Angeles newspaper obtained a circulation of 75,000 copies for each day of the four days of the debate over the regular circulation of that paper, it is stated.

The custom followed by the Bible students in all their meetings will also be followed at Mr. Sexton's lecture—seats free and no collection.

Get Fireworks Display Not Down on Program

Fireworks not on the Armistice day program were provided in the alley just west of Brand boulevard off Wilson avenue last night when two sockets were burned from high tension power poles of the public service department. Lights were out for a few minutes on the west side of Brand, north of Broadway, while repairs were being made.
